The Project of Still Hopes for This Life

“The 3rd Get-Together Fair for Families of Craniofacial Patients”

organized by

The Princess Sirindhorn Craniofacial Center

King Chulalongkorn Memorial Hospital, Thai Red Cross Society

On Wednesday 27th October 2010

at Dusit Zoo

The Project of Still Hopes for This Life has been held since 2001 with the objectives of mental and social care for the patients and their families who are affected by harelip, hollowed palate, and other facial and skull disorders in addition to treatments with specialized operations. It is to give chances to this group of patients and their families of getting together for sharing their experiences and receiving mutual assistances under the close physician supervision to provide proper education for better understanding of their daily routine life and medical cares. One of the activities of this project is the Get-Together Fair which is held biannually for these patients and their families to get together in the same way as children without craniofacial deformities normally do on the National Children Day. This year the event will be third time after the two previously successes in 2006 and 2008.

Expected Benefits to the patients and their families

1. To be physically and mentally released from overwhelming troubles after attending the projected activities.
2. To get acquaintance and exchange experiences among them leading to building their social networks for living together with more meaningful and better quality of life.
3. To get close contact to the medical team and consequently access to receiving proper cares and treatments in various services being offered by the Chulalongkorn Craniofacial Center.
4. To enhance development of promoting social self- care among patients under the strategy of King Chulalongkorn Memorial Hospital in achieving excellency of services to patients.
